PONOKA.
E. C. Price has sold his store, and contents to Frank Purdy, formerly of Lovellville. Mr. Price sold out on account of his wife's health, which has not been good for some years. They will go to some point in Washington. We regret to lose Mr. Price for he has been an honorable and successful merchant. We recommend Mr. Purdy as a man competent in his line of business and one who will make a success.

We understand that the Bell Telephone Co. have secured sufficient encouragement to cause them to build through Ponoka.

New settlers are arriving constantly but all bring the same story of woe that they get very short treatment over in our Uncle Sam's domain. The old gent must be getting a little sore over losing so many of his sturdy sons and daughters. He should be consoled he still has remaining an ample supply of trusts and corporations. We hope the time will never come when they can get a foot hold in this country.

PARLIAMENT OPEN

The speech from the throne on the opening of parliament does not give any large amount of information as to the legislation to be introduced or the policy to be pursued. Mention is made of the necessity of increased transportation facilities in the West, but nothing is said as to how that necessity is to be met, unless it is confined in the statement that a commission will be appointed to report on the whole question of transportation and terminal facilities. If this paragraph of the speech really contains the policy of the government regarding the development of transportation facilities in the West, it can only be said that it is eminently unsatisfactory. The conditions existing do not require any commission to establish the facts regarding them. Either the government has a policy regarding transportation or it has not. If it has the conditions require that it be acted upon forthwith, if it has not there is neither time nor necessity for waiting on the report of a commission. The needs of the country demand a transportation policy; those needs have been growing steadily for many years, and have now reached a climax which does not admit of waiting for reports of commissions. If the government is prepared to adopt a policy of public ownership of railways in the West, that would be the most economical, most satisfactory and most profitable means of meeting the necessities of the case. If they are not prepared to adopt such a policy they must be prepared with some other which will provide for railway construction on a large scale and at an early date, or they will stand accused of throwing the west and therefore the east into a retrograde condition.

Mention is made of a readjustment of the representation of the provinces on the basis of the census, of a bill to create a railway commission, amendment to the patent law, militia, the act regarding Chinese immigration, and the settlement of railway labor disputes. Mention is also made of the arbitration of the Alaskan boundary. But no indication is given of the attitude of the government on the subject.

No mention is made of tariff revision. This may fairly be taken to indicate that no serious revision will be attempted and that the present tariff policy will not be departed from. But of course the wording of the speech does not limit the action of the government; much less that of parliament. It says what the government intends to do but does not say what else it may intend to do.

THE GAMEY CHARGES

The "Ross" government of Ontario which seemed a few days ago to have secured a firm hold on power has received a bad shock in the allegations made by Gamey, M. P. for Manitowish, an Island, of attempts to bribe him to support the government which he was elected to oppose. What measure of truth there may be in the Gamey charges cannot be told yet, but there is sufficient circumstantial evidence to create suspicion, which under the circumstances cannot help to a great extent, but have the effect of condemnation. The position is not so much that Gamey has to prove his charges, as that Ross has to disprove them. Gamey was elected as a supporter of the Ontario opposition. Shortly after the elections before the Ross government had been strengthened by the results of a number of bye-elections, the province was announced to hear that Gamey had announced himself as a supporter of Ross, giving as his reasons therefor that his constituency being new required government assistance for its development, and its interests therefore would be best served by his support of Premier Ross. So sudden and radical a change would have been sufficiently startling in any country, but much more so in Ontario where for three-quarters of a century political lines have been most sharply drawn, and where desertion of one party for the other is held to be the unpardonable political sin. Gamey and Manitowish at once achieved a prominence they had never before attained, or probably expected. To the Liberals, Gamey became a pure patriot, and to the conservatives one to whom Judas Iscariot was a paragon of honor. So matters continued until the legislature opened and the Ross government met the house with a working majority of eight, in the fullest confidence that its control for the session was assured. But on the first business day, after the mover and seconder of the address had spoken, Mr. Gamey again and more greatly startled the country by rising in his place and reading a specific charge in the fullest particular, that attempts had been made by and on behalf of Hon. Mr. Stratton, member of the Ross government, to purchase his allegiance. The charges included one that a certain large sum in cash had been paid Gamey for his support. He concluded his statement by handing the written charges to Mr. Whitney, leader of the opposition, and declaring himself one of his followers. The incident, lacking nothing in sensationalism, and there is little comment to be made. The charges of attempted bribery were denied by Stratton, and Premier Ross has appointed a commission of judges to investigate the case, which is held to be sufficiently important to require the adjournment of the legislature for two weeks in order that the investigation may be held before business is proceeded with. It does not matter what verdict is rendered as a result of the investigation; this is a case in which it is more than likely that enough mud will stick to condemn the Ross government in its forthcoming appeals at the by-elections. It is one of the most remarkable occurrences in the political history of Canada, and one of the least creditable from any point of view. That the Ross government or any member of it should have so conducted himself that such charges if made could expect belief, is deplorable; and that any man, who was honored by the confidence of an intelligent constituency should submit to make merchandise of that confidence as Mr. Gamey has evidently done, is discreditable, not only to him but the country in which he lives. For again it does not matter what the verdict is, Mr. Gamey can never relieve himself from the suspicion of having finally sold out to the highest bidder.

THE TARIFF IN NORTH ONTARIO

Reports arriving by mail indicate that the tariff question entered strongly into the North Ontario by-election which resulted in the defeat of Hon. Mr. Foster. In the general election of 1900 the late member, Mr. MacLeod, carried it for the conservatives by a majority of 518. In the recent by-election Mr. Grant, a non-resident, carried it for the liberals by a majority of 165 over Mr. Foster. Reports are to the effect that Mr. Grant fought the election strictly on the tariff issue and appealed to the electors of an entirely agricultural constituency on behalf of low tariff, as against the prohibitive tariff of the conservatives. No doubt Mr. Foster was not well treated by his friends, but an analysis of the vote shows that the change of opinion was greatest in the purely farming districts; which would seem to indicate that there were special influences at work there. No doubt those influences were the dislike of the farmers to the tariff propositions of the conservative party.

CLOTHING

Men's Suits, some new ones. Just about now you'll be glad to see some distinctly new goods, fresh ideas in the way of fabric—large plaids, broken checks, narrow stripes in brown and gray effects—in fancy chevrons. The man who wants something "a little different" will appreciate the present showing of

PICCADILLY CLOTHING

There is a difference in clothing as in men. There are no better clothes made than those we are showing, but there are higher prices. A hot iron and a ton weight can press out a poorly made suit so that it looks very fine in a window. But only good, careful tailoring and all-wool cloth can make a suit hold its shape and look well for months and months. No need to argue with yourself, even though you have a good Suit or Overcoat. Will not another be welcome, if it's but to relieve a monotonous sameness? Many of these suits are of medium weight, and you could not find better for spring service. They are all identified by the "PICCADILLY" label. That makes them all the more desirable.

A good address goes a long way in aiding a man to forget to the front. We materially assist in giving you a presentable appearance by furnishing fashionable cut attire at prices below tailor made. Elegant patterns, careful workmanship. No clothing fits like ours.

BOY'S CLOTHING

CLOTHING THAT DEFIES JUVENILE GYMNASTICS

As a parent you know how near useless it is to admonish youngsters not to soil or tear their clothes. The only remedy is to get good clothes, but don't pay too much for them. Clothing is cheaper for a healthy boy than doctors' bills for a sick one. We plead for the boyish boy.

RAIN PROOF

And other OVERCOATS

Cravenette fabrics go through a process that goes to the foundation of the cloth—the very fibres that make the wool that makes the yarn are made non-absorbent. No earmarks of waterproof, no odor—no stiffness—is porous to air. The power of "cravenette" is in disguise until attacked by rain.

Towns and Villages

St. Albert is a village situated nine miles northwest of Edmonton on the Sturgeon river at its outlet from a river expansion called the Big lake. St. Albert is chiefly important as being the seat of the bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of St. Albert whose jurisdiction extends over the whole of Alberta. There is, in connection with the mission, several large and handsome buildings including the bishop's palace, and the convent of the Grey Nuns who conduct an orphanage and hospital. A large new cathedral of solid brick is now in course of construction. This will be when completed, the finest church building in the Territories. St. Albert is also an important business centre for the immediately surrounding settlements. It has two large general stores, two hotels and a number of other business establishments. It is on the surveyed line of the Pine river branch of the Canadian Northern railway, and the business centre of a large and prosperous farming settlement. It will no doubt have railway connection very shortly after the main line of that company reaches Edmonton.

Morinville, twelve miles north of St. Albert, has a roller process flour mill, two general stores, two hotels, and a number of other establishments which help to make up a town. It has telephone communication with St. Albert and Edmonton.

Fort Saskatchewan is situated on the south bank of the Saskatchewan river, about eighteen miles northeast of, and down stream from, Edmonton. Fort Saskatchewan is the headquarters of the Mounted Police in the Edmonton district, is the business centre of a well developed agricultural district, and has the surveyed crossing of the Saskatchewan river by the Canadian Northern railway. Fort Saskatchewan has a roller process flour mill, several large general stores, two hotels, a large number of business places, and three churches, Episcopal, Methodist, and Presbyterian. Fort Saskatchewan is an important point at present but with the construction of the Canadian Northern, its importance will be very greatly increased.

Strathcona, situated on the south bank of the Saskatchewan opposite Edmonton, is the terminus of the Calgary and Edmonton railway and is the point of junction between that railway and the Edmonton, Yukon & Pacific, a part of the Canadian Northern system, which is operated to Edmonton. In some respects Strathcona is the business rival of Edmonton, and by reason of exclusive position as the railway shipping point of the district for years. It has a large flouring mill, a large oatmeal mill, five grain elevators for shipment, two pork packing establishments, a foundry and machine shop, a large number of excellent commercial houses, hotels, churches, schools and all the marks of advancement pertaining to a progressive town. The town owns the electric light plant, and since its incorporation has made an excellent showing in grading and travelling streets, and building sidewalks. Itsliga and gas is laid down as the pride of the town, and the enterprise of its citizens in the cause of education has done very much for the nation, and progress of the place. The population at the census of 1900 was over fifteen hundred, and this has since very largely increased. It is now over 2,000.

Although Edmonton and Strathcona are business rivals to a certain extent, together they constitute a single centre of business having the largest population of any town in the Territories. Although rivals, the presence and growth of one is an assurance of stability and progress to the other.

Leduc, situated on the Calgary and Edmonton railway, twenty miles south of Edmonton, is the centre of a large and growing settlement. It is an important point for the shipping of grain, flour, cattle, hogs, butter, and eggs and is the distributing point for a large area. Its industries include a first class roller process flour mill, and a large and complete pork packing establishment. It has the usual complement of business places, hotels, churches, etc., including a branch of a chartered bank, and is the distributing point for mails to several outlying post offices.

Miller, nine miles south of Leduc, is also a railroad point, with post office, store, hotel, and the beginnings generally of a thriving town.

Wetaskiwin, forty miles south of Edmonton is the largest town on the Calgary and Edmonton railway between Calgary and Strathcona. It is the centre of a large and prosperous farming district and is the chief point of departure from the railway line of immigrants for the country lying along the Battle River, both north and south for a distance of ten hundred miles. There are branches of two chartered banks, four large general stores, and a full complement of all lines of business which constitute a growing western town, including a first class roller process flour mill. Wetaskiwin is a heavy export point of grain, flour, cattle, hogs, butter and eggs.

Ponoka, sixty miles south of Edmonton is beautifully situated on the north bank of Battle river. In its present condition it is the growth of not more than three years, and is now one of the brightest and most progressive towns on the line. It is somewhat hampered by the proximity of a large Indian reserve to the north. But settlement is extended east and west up and down Battle river for a distance of from twenty to thirty miles, and the rash of the present year is certain to carry it very much further. As the settlement has chiefly been made within two years it is only beginning to be productive; but the people, who are mostly from the Western States, are energetic and progressive and are certain to succeed. There is a saw mill at Ponoka which operates the timber brought down the Battle river, and in the settlements to the westward several small portable mills are operated furnishing cheap building material to the settlers. There are sub-land agencies for receiving homestead entries at Leduc, Wetaskiwin and Ponoka.

LOCAL

—J. K. Corbitt left for Peace river today.

—There are 27 regularly established real estate offices in Edmonton.

—A ladies' glove has been found on the street and left at this office.

—Mr. Harry Poyer, who owns an extensive ranch in Vermilion valley, about 100 miles east, arrived in Edmonton Sunday night, and will remain to-morrow. He has been ranching there for seven years and now almost all the land near his ranch is homesteaded or bought up. Stock is doing very well; 250 head will be shipped out the end of next month, about 75 head to the Vogel Meat Co., Edmonton, and the balance to Mr. Towry, of Calgary. They were bought at 4-12-5 a pound, to be weighed at Strathcona, on Sunday, March 8th, a heavy snow storm commenced and continued for three days. Eight inches of snow fell altogether. A portable saw mill, owned by Watt and Richardson Bros., is in operation three miles west of the old St. Paul crossing on the Saskatchewan river, near Mr. Poyer's ranch. Over 200,000 feet of lumber will be taken out this season for local use.

CURLING

At the curling rink last night: Raymer defeated McDonald for the Hardy cup by a score of 13 to 11. Bellamy defeated Emery for the Blue Ribbon cup by a score of 9 to 8.

Rae defeated Bryan for the Shaw cup by a score of 13 to 3. This leaves Rae in the finals for the Shaw cup competition.

The draws for to-night are: Stewart vs. Osborne for the Hardy cup; Raymer vs. Bryan for the Blue Ribbon cup.

Stewart vs. McDonald for the Hudson Bay cup. A final curling match, around which a great deal of interest is centering, takes place to-morrow night, between Pearson and Osborne for the Calgary Brewing cup. It is expected that the match will be one of the most keenly contested of the season.
